Subject: Councillors - South Staffs

Categories: Submissions

Hello,

41 councilors are still far too many for South Staffs as most are only self-serving individuals politically motivated, however, another example of the overmanning of councilors is that of Wolverhampton, which has over 60 for a population less than 200,000 predominately Labour ones, a very safe seat indeed.

Perhaps it is high time for a national reduction of councillors as suggested by Mr David Cameron when he was in office but did not take the opportunity to do so.

In these days of a significant recession, the authorities need to make savings in as many of our local authorities and in government, as is possible as both are in significant debt.

I'm sure that I'm not the only voter and taxpayer that feels the same way
