I live in Drakes Broughton which is a growing village but still quite rural. We identify with other villages like Pirton and Wadborough and indeed the Parish Council represents all three villages. I strongly object to the boundaries being changes which could have a negative impact on the Village and our needs etc being understood and addressed. If there were tone changes then I would accept the first consultation which added Peopleton to Drakes Broughton. However, to group Drakes Broughton with Norton and Whittington is absurd as they is no connection with them and they are very different areas with different needs. Norton is more like a small town than a rural village. I am concerned that the needs of Drakes Broughton would be overlooked and swamped by Norton and Whittington especially if the SWDP takes place.
