Comment text:

I think its silly to split southam into so many pieces and mix with much smaller villages (ie stockton). Would make much more sense to keep southam as 1 ward with an extra Councillor or split into 2 but not section it off with other places completely. How confusing for everyone, especially people living there and moving there not knowing which street falls in which ward, and then thinking why are they with a village a few miles away rather than part of the town?
