Comment text:

With the need to increase the number of voters in each electoral division, in my opinion a perfect fit for Lumley division would be to include West Rainton and Leamside. The area falls under a full parish council area and the residents fall under the same sort of demographic as the current 'Lumley Division. A mix of private and social housing around a former coal mining area. The main social housing provider is the same as in Lumley division so established working links will apply and make a transition more seamless.
