Rather than making wards bigger, eg: Brereton & Etchinghill, why not make them smaller, 1800-2000 dwellings per ward with just one councillor representing them. Brereton & Ravenhill is already too big & should at least be halved, not adding the majority of Hagley Ward to it. Hagley is just about the right size now & one district councillor could represent it easily. Make all wards about the same size. It will still greatly reduce the number of district councillors and residents will have proper representation.
