Comment text:

Dear Igbce, I've had a quick look at the proposed boundary changes and they seem totally unimportant compared with the idiotic shape and scope of the ward. The inclusion of Nangreaves and surrounding area in Rossendale is completely non-sensical, as the residents will almost certainly identify more with Bury than Rossendale. If they do travel north to shop, it will be to Ramsbottom, which is in Bury. Yet many people in Ramsbottom identify with the Rossendale valley: students from each district attend schools in the other; the local newspaper, the Rossendale Free Press, includes reports on teams and news from Ramsbottom; until the banks closed, many edenfield residents used banks in Ramsbottom. Surely, rather than tinkering with roads in Haslingden, your efforts should be directed at re-establishing the real Rossendale and North Bury communities.
