Related subject: Nash and Boraston boundary alteration at Clee Division

I object to the parish of Nash being moved from Clee division into Cleobury Mortimer division for local council representation on Shropshire Council. The parish and remote communities of Nash and Boraston are directly associated to Clee, this too is evident in tangible historic maps and social history. Modern day associations consist of cultural, recreational and economic links across the parishes that do not share mutual interests, motives, values or community identity with Cleobury Mortimer. It is imperative that our parishes continue to retain representation under Clee division, under where we are directly physically connected. It is vitally important that our areas share common representation at local government level to retain community identity and effective collaboration in local government. I therefore object to Nash and Boraston being fragmented from the Clee division and do not support this.
