The proposed changes in the ward boundaries which would mean that Church Pulverbatch, currently in the Burnell Ward, would be linked with Bishops Castle are completely illogical. Although on a map it does not appear to be too far away there are no links between the two places as the road between the two is a minor road over quite steep terrain and difficult in winter. There are no transport connections between the two nor are there any school or church links. Church Pulverbatch is very much a community with its own church, village hall etc and its closest connections are with the neighbouring villages of Longden and Annscroft where the local primary school is situated, the churches are in a joint benefice with one Rector and through which the main road to Shrewsbury passes. If Church Pulverbatch has to be moved then that would be the most logical direction.
