Moving spennymoor high Street, which is part of the main town centre of spennymoor, into the tudhoe ward is something that should never be up for consultation. Having more councillors in the spennymoor division, representing a higher number of residents, I strongly believe leaving the town centre as a whole within the spennymoor electoral division.

As spennymoor builds more and more homes, becoming the commuter town it was always earmarked for, I believe we need more representation within DCC, not less. How about we get rid of spennymoor town council entirely and have a few more county councillors instead? Saving residents a boatload of money.

Dean Ranyard does not speak for the majority of Spennymoor, if he thinks he does or not, he speaks for a small minority who vote for the Liberal Democrats flag!!!! Ask the people of the town what they want instead of listening to councillors who blindly follow what their party tell them to.
