I have never understood why we had double divisions; I really can't see the point, so I am very supportive of abolishing these. Harlow is certainly a growing town: its population has grown from 81k to 95k in the last 10 years and that growth is not stopping - in 'greater Harlow, there will be 40% growth over the next ten years making the Harlow & Gilston Garden Town the fastest growing area of the country by far. As such, I also support creating five single divisions for the town in order to accommodate the growth, and the split seems sensible, albeit complicated as the town does not naturally split into five.
