I have no problem with the modest increase in the number of councillors but am concerned about the recommendation of replacing two member divisions in Basildon. Whilst I realise in a perfect world one member divisions across the county are preferable - there are reasons why this was not done in Basildon. I am struggling to see especially how the division of Pitsea could be split into two one member divisions in a way that would make sense from a geographical/community point of view - and certainly how this could be done in a way that contains a workable number of electors. I think the same would be true of Laindon Park and Fryerns.
