Related subject: Kirklees existing boundaries

I live in the village of Netherton. We are currently Crosland Moor and Netherton.

Crosland Moor is quite a populated, urban area. Netherton is a village, with farmlands, fields and a lot of ancient woodland area. The majority of this boundary area is urban, therefore there appears to be a disconnect with the needs of both areas.

Many of Nethertons high school age children go to Honley high, therefore it seems strange that we are not in the same educational area, to have our say on educational needs.

We have fields, ancient replanted woodland and other green public spaces. Again, we share these open spaces with both Meltham and Honley and therefore it would be beneficial for us to share the same cllrs within the same boundary areas. This would allow for more joined up representation for our community, bearing in mind geographical and ecological concerns.
