Hello,

I live in Trinity Ward and was a little concerned to read that the plan is to group us with Bisley and Painswick (areas which I travel to, but don't feel a part of things here). I think this ward is very central to Stroud's identity and I can't see how this area with such central and communal local resources like Daisy Bank, the cemetery and hospital would ever really be understood or looked after as well as it is now, sitting within the county council area. This is 'old Stroud' and as such, I feel it belongs where it is now.
